

Problem Identification

The client is a Fortune 50 Medical Device and Diagnostic company that has been in business for 100+ years and has worked closely with Eliassen Group for over 20 years. The client had an urgent need for a highly experienced and technically skilled Program Manager to support a critical project.

HIGHLIGHTED RESULTS

- The client's requirements were met and exceeded.
- The next generation product was delivered on time.

Nature and Scope of Challenge

The Diagnostic R&D Team needed a strong Program Manager to lead a recovery project for a critical assay launch. The individual had to manage multiple matrixed workstreams and needed the technical expertise to push back on engineering development teams.

Problem Resolution

The client chose to partner with Eliassen Group on this initiative due to our extensive history of delivering specialized individuals successfully. Eliassen Group consulted with the team and ultimately placed the required Senior Program Manager, who stepped in and realigned the program efficiently and effectively.

Value Proposition

The position was successfully filled, and the next generation product was delivered on time.